TO THE VILLAGE TAX PAYER.

When it comes to the question of taxes it seems that the tax payers re inclined to blame the assessor for high taxes and, as this is all wrong, and to throw light on the subject it is the aim of this letter.

First I must emphasize that the assessor has nothing to do with determining the amount of taxes to be spread, no more than any other tax payer in our village. This is a matter whell in the head-of the spread in the star whell in the second of the second payer in our village. This is a matter wholly in the hands of our council. At the proper time the finance committee of the council, which consists of three members of the council, determines upon the necessary amounts to be raised for the various funds and after the wood them.

funds and after the report has been read, at the council meeting it is finally disposed of by the council. By so doing the assessor is instructed to spread the taxes thus set down.

There has been a rumor that the highest taxes ever levied in our village is about to come to pass. All inquiries I have promptly referred to our president, and those who are in-our president, and those who are interested I will advise to be present at the next council meeting Monday June 4th, as this is the proper place to talk business.

Much misunderstanding could be avoided if tax payers would attend the meeting at the time when taxes are discussed. I think it would create a better feeling between council and tax payers and as we are all.

cil and tax payer; and as we are all interested in knowing how much money it will take to defray the expenses in the different departments, a visit to the meeting would be the proper thing.

If you are interested, be present at the next council meeting, next Monday night.

In every department of the game the Grayling aggregation co-ordinated in fine shape. It secured good pitching. It gave a display of good fielding and when it came to pounding the pill all kinds of hits were shown.

The team was followed by a large crowd of rooters who were mostly school students and this helped very much in the victory which our boys won.

ILLINOIS MEN WIN BONUS

Supreme Court Upholds Act Providing for the Allowance of Fifty Cents Per Day.

The close relation existing between the services of the individual soldier of the World war and the general welfare of the state gives rise to a claim appealing to a universal sense of fairness and justice, declared the opinion of the Supreme court of Illinois in upholding the bonus act of that state. The court was ununimous on the constitutionality of the act and by this decision paves the way for 300,000 exservice men and women to obtain a state bonus.

The Illinois act provides for the payment of 50 cents per day for each ay of service in the army, navy or marine corps. The maximum payment which any veteran may draw is $300. To pay the veterans a bond issue of $55,000,000 has been made and will be sold immediately, Palmer D. Edmunds, chief clerk of the board which passes on the bonus applications, has estimated that payment will begin about July 1, and that the former soldiers will be paid at the rate of approximately 24,000 a month. Applica-tions to the number of 220,000 are already on file with the board.

The case in Supreme court, a "friendly suit" brought by the father of a Legion man of Springfield, Ill., attracted much attention. It was the contention of the attorneys for the appellants that the law violated the constitution by granting extra compensation after public service had been rendered. The opinion of the court, written by

Chief Justice Thompson, and without a dissenting vote, held that the recipi-ents of compensation in the case did not come within this specification of the constitution. They, the opinion said, do not stand in the relation of a public officer, agent, servant or con-tractor of, or with the state, and "that the section has no application here."

The activity of the American Legion in assisting the securing of the passage of the Illinois act is well known. The organization was called on to write the act and was at all times active in moving toward its passage. On the eve of the election by which the voters of the state approved the bond issue to pay compensation, the organization staged a demonstration throughout the state that won thousands of votes Under advice of the Legion, the ruling was made by the bonus board that all service should be compensated at the specified rate until 1920. The previous acceptance had been for service actually rendered before the armistice.

Special Memorial Services Conducted by Legion in Honor of Victims of Sea Warfare.

Those Americans who perished at sea during the World war were paid fitting tribute on Memorial day by the American Legion. Hundreds of Americans went down as sea victims of the submarine and their unmarked graves were remembered. On the Ticonderoga alone 213 brave Americans went down, and scores of others perished in a similar manner. Recognition of the sailor's part in the war was paid by numerous posts of the Legion when the members set adrift barks of flowers in memory of those who perished at sea, now resting in wave-swept graves.

Heavy Load for Legion.

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, supreme arbitrator of organized baseball recently predicted that "within five years many supposedly able-bodied veterans will begin to falter because of shock and exposure suffered in the trenches.' "The American Legion is the only body which is taking an active stand for justice to disabled men, and on the Legion will full the responsibility of seeing that congress does its duty." Making Use of Old Copper.

Disabled soldiers in veteran hos pitals are making use of the metals comprising copper "stills" seized by prohibition officials in Los Angeles, Calif. Dry officials there recently took all the seized apparatus to a local hospital where the patients are converting the copper and other metals into book ends, paper weights, desk ornaments and other useful articles. This action was taken by the United States marshal on consent of federal court officials. Formerly the metal had been "lunked."

PRACTICAL HINTS ON FIELDING FLY BALLS

Player Should Not Try to Time Flight so as Barely to Make the Catch.

By CARL LUNDGREN, Baseball Coach, University of Illinois.) In fielding fly balls a player should get under the ball as fast as possible and should not try to time the flight so as barely to get to the hall. The reason for this is that if the man in question misjudges the direction and speed of the ball, if he gets there in plenty of time he will have an opportunity to shift so as still to get under

In catching fly balls the fielders should learn to catch them with palms up or with the palms up and the thumbs together. The first is usually the safer method, but it is well to practice both.

The following points should be con sidered in catching fly balls: In run ning to the spot where the ball will fall, run with the arms at the side, sprinter fashion, as this is the best method of carrying the arms when running. That is, the hands should not be carried in the air in a position of readiness for catching the ball while the fielder is running. When the ball hits the glove the receiver's hands should be relaxed and should give a little with the impact of the ball against the glove.

An outfielder should turn and run back as fast as he can to catch a ball over his head. He should not attempt to keep his eye on the ball while he is running, as this will slow him up. It is a difficult matter to catch the fly American Swim Coach balls, in this manner, but a good out fielder should be able to do it.

By a recently discovered method the residue of castor oil beans can now be converted into serviceable tiles and bricks for interior building. Hitherto hundreds of thousands of tons of resldue, being of no value as foodstuff for cattle, had been thrown away or used as fertilizer. By a process of compression the waste is now made up into tiles which are both light and tough, and have the added advantage of being warm to walk on. This quality of warmth gives it pronounced superiority over stone tiling, and the cost is scarcely greater than that of stone or mineral composition tiles. In appearance the new building material reembles polished stone.

EXPECT BIG CROPS

Conditions in Western Canada Please Farmers.

ding Has Been Begun Earlier Than for Many Years, and Soil Is in Perfect Shape.

With weather conditions highly fa vorable, the farmers of Western Can-ada, with the exception probably of portion of Manitoba, have completed seeding from ten to fifteen days earlier than for some years past. In some parts of Manitoba there were floods which delayed seeding, but they have abated, and left the land in good shape for quick work and speedy germination. In Saskatchewan soil conditions for seeding were never better. With generous quantity of snow, which after melting left needed moisture, and an other snowstorm after seeding was finished, there was an ideal condition created. From all parts of Alberta there came the best of reports as to rainfall and snow moisture, leaving the ground in the condition required for the prospects of a good crop,

Spring, as in most other parts of the continent, was backward, but notwithstanding this, as has been said, farmers were able to get on the land earlier than for some years. In fact, seeding was practically commenced about the 12th of April, which to many readers may seem remarkable, when it is known that several hundred miles farther south it was not possible to do spring seeding for several days later. Reports to hand on the 16th of May state that wheat is up above the ground in a great many places, oats are being sown, and corn planted. Farm labor was scarce for awhile, but the demand has fallen off. One fea-ture of the demand for farm help is that farmers are now employing help by the year, at of course smaller wages than those paid for special work. The increasing tendency to employ help by the year is evidence that farmers ar not relying solely upon wheat growing, but are going out into other branches such as dairying, stock raising, etc. The prospects in all portions of Western Canada were never brighter than at present. Information regarding the condition of the crops at any time will be sent on request made to any Canadian government agent.-Advertise-

In the middle of the night-which expression is used to denote a time well after midnight-the small child of the colored janitor of an apartment in northwest Washington became Ill.

He telephoned for doctors, but to no avail, he said. As the child grew worse, in despair he went upstairs and rang the bell of the apartment of a retired clerk of one of the govern ment departments.

The lady answered the bell, and was told that the child was dying-would she come and baptize it?

The woman went down with the janitor, and there, at two o'clock in the morning, the colored infant was baptized. Undoubtedly it was the most unusual rite of its kind performed in the national capital in a long time. Yes, the baby got well.-Washington

"Let's hold a pow-wow before we turn in," sald Sandy. "Westlake, what do you know about Keith? Anything?" "I've heard of him. I imagine he started out as a promoter rather than a developer. He has made some lucky strikes. There is no doubt but that he can float this proposition on a large scale, induce others to put money into it. He'll put the camp on working basis. wife took more; his son, just out o college, took all he could get. Mrs. Keith, he decided, should look Molly up at her school, take her into the Keith home on vacations, introduce her into the social whirl. The ight newspaper men would see her, meet her, get the story from Blake of her romantic childhood, with-photographs of the Western Heiress in the Park on Horseback. Moreover, she could be introduced to the right people, that was Mrs, Keith's end of it.

Then would come the prospectuses with these extracts of the best paragraphs, tied up with views of Casey Town, with engineers' reports, with semi-scientific stuff about sylvanite, a masterpiece of romance and fiction, peppered with fact. The whole to be titled White Gold.

Blake submitted his clever cam paign, worthy of better things, and Keith approved of it. That the partners of the Three Star as fifty-one per cent owners, of Molly Casey herself with them, should be consulted or informed, never entered his head. Blake's campaign was carried out most successfully. Mrs. Keith deprove his end. From now on he won't scended overwhelmingly upon Molly try to. It might be a good thing-Mrs. Keith was quick at dealing with the future Three Star ranch, to Sandy Bourke, guardian of Molly Casey, without Molly's knowledge. Sandy read the zuardian letter aloud to his partners.

"Speakin' wide, the weddin' cake of matrimony has been mostly mildewed for me," said Mormon reflectively, but I've allus had an affinity fo' the sex. I ain't like Sandy. Nature give him an instinct ag'in' 'em, as pard ners. He was bo'n lucky."

But Sandy had gone out. Sam and Mormon trailed him and saw him walking toward the cottonwood grove with Grit at his heels.

"He thinks a heap of Molly," opined Sam. "I reckon he sure hates to lose her, if he is woman-shy. Course Molly was jest a kid. But I ters, with mention of Donald Keith here and there, that of new clothes. don't fancy she'll take the back-trail once she gits mixed up with the Keith outfit."

Sandy, under the cottonwoods where the spring bubbled, so near the old prospector's grave that perhaps the old miner lying there could, in his new affinities with Nature, hear its low, was thinking much the same hing Mormon had expressed, hoping It might be true, chiding himself lest the thought be selfish.

Memories of Molly flickered across the screen of his mind: Molly beside the father by the broken wagon, climbing to get the cactus blossom for his cairn; Molly at the grave; Molly giving him the gold piece; the wild ride across the pass and the race for the train and a recollection that mentioned to his partners; the touch of Molly's lips on his as he had bade her goodby. The kiss had not been that of a child, there had been a magic in it that had thrilled some chord in Sandy that still responded to that re membrance.

Miranda, alone in the flivver, a new car of her own, bought with money paid by Keith for her claim, was at the ranch house when Sandy returned Miranda and young Ed Bailey, accepting Westlake's advice, had sold for cash, getting fifteen thousand dollars to divide between them, refusing more glittering offers of stock. It was a windfall well worth their endeavor and they were amply satisfied. Young Ed had promptly gone to agricultural college Miranda, Mormon and Sam were talking about this when Sandy came up.

"It sure made a man of young Ed overnight," said the spinster, "He thought it out all by himse'f an' nigh surprised us off our feet. We're olumb proud of him.

FARM BUREAU NOTES.

in very handy with the dairy busines

Many farmers voluntarily deprive themselves of many things that would add to comfort, beauty, convenience and profit just because they don't make a start and get them. Such farmers are not too busy. They simply don't "get at it." A man can cure himself of the "put it off" habit if he wants to.

The fine farm home of Mr. Mrs. John A. Love, Beaver Creek Township, will be graced by a new name board, over the gate, bearing this attractive legend: "Pleasant this attractive legend: "Pleasant Valley Farm—John A. Love, Proprietor."

It is encouraging to see the increase in the practice of naming the farm. Who will report next? It is a mistake to put off selection of a name because the place is not fixed up as good as the owner would like. Name the farmstead with a pleasant, appropriate name; then, work up to your ideals.

In my office I have a list of hundreds of good names. Drop in and

Most Profitable Acre.

Remembrance.

When the children have grown and their feet have wandered far far away, they will remember, no how large the old home farm was how rich or poor father was, bu the kindness, the thoughtful, consid erate training received, the swing, the play house, the pets, the beauty, the grassy lawn, the trees, the flowers good things to read throug inter evenings.
